

Health Education Consultancy

American Peanut Council, London

The American Peanut Council (APC) is a non-profit US trade association with offices in London. We are currently re-bidding our Health Education Consultancy contract in Europe.

If you/your company has a track record in the generic consumer food and health sector, experience of the EU's health claims procedures and nutrient profiling work, and experience at taking scientific nutrition messages and turning them into news features, then you are invited to bid for this contract.

Those interested should e-mail lmckerchar@peanutsusa.org.uk and request a copy of the health education consultancy bid solicitation documentation. The deadline for submissions to be returned to APC is Friday 20th February 2009.

According to U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) regulations, the American Peanut Council does not discriminate in its programmes on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation, marital or familial status.
